Dear Bregy School Community-

I am writing to share an exciting update. We have identified the next principal for F. Amedee Bregy School! Ms. Rachel Marianno was recently offered the position by Superintendent Hite and has accepted.

Ms. Rachel Marianno went through an extensive selection process. This process included interviews with network staff, principal performance tasks with other leaders in the school district, an interview with the school-based advisory committee, and interviews with senior central office staff. Through that rigorous process, it was clear that Ms. Rachel Marianno was the right leader for the Bregy School.

Ms. Rachel Marianno brings a wealth of educational leadership experience to Bregy, including serving as a Principal and Assistant Principal in elementary, middle, and high school settings. Most recently, Ms. Marianno has served as Assistant Principal at West Philadelphia High School. Ms. Marianno is a results-oriented instructional leader who believes in creativity and community involvement to promote a positive learning environment to ensure all students receive the high-quality education they deserve.

Ms. Marianno earned a B.A. in Elementary Education and Reading from Northeastern University. She holds two master's degrees, one from Cheney University in Elementary Education and another from Lehigh University in Educational Leadership.

In addition to Ms. Marianno's rich educational and leadership experience, she brings a proven track record of bringing a collaborative spirit that centers on the needs of all students. Deeply committed to developing relationships with students, teachers, staff, families, and community members, Ms. Marianno is eager to meet the community over the next few months in preparation for the 2022-2023 school year.

Please join us in welcoming Ms. Marianno to the Bregy School Community.

Sincerely,

Karen Kolsky
